Planting Seeds for Transformation

By Christan Hummel

We are living in the middle of history in the making, the death of the old archaic political and economic systems, and a rebirth of one more reflective of the new consciousness expressing on the planet at this time.

As any student of history knows, all revolutions start with a key group who first "ignite" the spark in the realm of ideas. These ideas, like seeds, take root in the minds of men and women. They begin to change the way we look at the world, getting people to start to question what they have taken for granted for most of their lives. This power of a thought whose time has come, is what has preceded every revolution in the planet's history.

What is often overlooked, though, is that while a change in the actions and structures of a society all begin with that first revolutionary thought, all thought is preceded by consciousness: any change in the actions and events which occur on the physical plane, must first be preceded by a change in the thoughts that prompt it; but to shift those thoughts, one must first transform or shift consciousness. To shift consciousness, the grids, or matrix, which sustain that consciousness, or paradigm, must first be transformed.

It is for this reason that political leaders for thousands of years have tried to possess, own, and control the major nexus points of these grids. The earth is surrounded by this hidden matrix, or grid, of consciousness. It is this matrix which contains and defines any expression or system of political, economic, or governmental concept.

For these outer systems to change, the consciousness grids that support and sustain them must first change. For instance, our current economic models on the planet are based upon a certain consciousness, or way of understanding their reality which is based primarily in the root and solar plexus chakras.

As such, this reality—this level of consciousness—is oriented around concepts of greed, win/loss paradigms, fixed-pie scenarios, and power/control/separation. No matter what country or political regime, the same consciousness underlies all of the existing economic models. Under this model, in order for one person or country to "win," another must "lose." Such a model determines the political action and agents, which in turn determine the rights, liberties, and livelihood of individuals.

Abundance is the true nature of the Universe; yet most of the planet is living in this artificially constructed grid of scarcity, greed, and fear and the wars, crime, and violence that consciousness engenders. These energies are subsequently carried through the grid lines, or the meridians of the planet. By shifting the energies of this planetary grid matrix, the consciousness reflected in it is also shifted, allowing for new possibilities to emerge, ones more consistent with the higher realms which the Earth is entering into. When humanity is able to shift from the solar plexus orientation of I, me, mine, to the heart chakra orientation where universal love is the currency that flows between us, then the new economic models will be able to emerge on the planet.

This is a key time on the planet for new economic perspectives to flourish. To do so, there needs to be a fertile space to receive the seed of new and revolutionary ideas. It is time for a new idea to be born, and the Earth grids are where such ideas first take root before manifesting into action and ultimately new systems. By working with the guiding spirit of these grid points and ley lines in key areas of the planet which hold a part of the economic paradigm for the planet, we offer Spirit an opportunity to plant in the matrix those new seeds of thought where they can sprout into action and new economic models of right living.

Book Reviews

Outbreaks and Epidemics

Battling Infection from Measles to Coronavirus'

By Meera Senthilingham

For centuries we have waged war against infections which could have wiped out communities or even entire populations. Yet, for all our advanced scientific knowledge, experience and research, only one human disease – smallpox – has ever been globally eradicated. While we struggle to contain those diseases which are known to us, new ones are continually emerging – our present Covid-19 pandemic, SARS, Zika, avian flu, swine flu, Ebola to name but a few – and as if that were not enough, bacteria which we had under control with antibiotics are developing immunity to these drugs, enabling them to thrive once again. Published just a few months ago, this is a bang up-to-date analysis of exactly where we are in our ongoing battle against infection.

The author is a global health journalist who has worked with the world's best known broadcasters and research institutions and here she examines the successes and failures of the past and compares them to the challenges we face today. We get today's state of play with AIDS, malaria, tuberculosis, polio, leprosy and others which, frankly, we had thought had been eradicated or had not even heard of. Disease can suddenly reappear because people stop taking precautions. As timely as it is possible to be, she also investigates the links between politics and disease, the burgeoning anti-vaxxer movement and the battle with spurious "medical advice" that infests the Internet. Highly informative and thoroughly engrossing, www.bibliophilebooks.com

Knowledge of Spirit Worlds and Life After Death As Received through Spirit Guides

By Dr Bob Woodward

'Everyone with a curiosity for spiritual knowledge should read this excellent book.' – Peter John, psychic artist

Based on direct communications with his eight spirit guides, Dr Bob Woodward confirms that we have all lived in spirit worlds before our birth – and that we will enter these same realms again after our material deaths. In a very real sense, these higher spirit worlds are actually our true home, he says, rather than our present physical existence, which is only a temporary abode.

In consultation with his spirit guides – including a Tibetan Lama, a Jewish Rabbi, a Native American and his personal guardian angel – Bob Woodward gives a detailed survey of our lives in spirit worlds before birth and after death, our relationships there with friends, family and even pets, and our connections with both good and evil spiritual beings. He also gives a commentary on a range of subjects such as reincarnation and climate change. In a final extensive and moving interview, Woodward finds and speaks with the soul of his deceased father, who offers enlightening glimpses of life after death.

Whilst the author's knowledge is grounded in decades of study of the work of Rudolf Steiner – with which he compares the results of his own extrasensory perceptions – Knowledge of Spirit Worlds is not intended as a dry philosophical study. Rather, it has a warm, experiential quality – based as it is on personal interaction with spirit entities – and emphasises the love that connects all worlds and beings together. Trees, Subtle Energies and Human Health

By Mike Haxeltine

This work presents a review of the role of trees and subtle energies on human health and the potential use of Radiesthesia (Dowsing) in global public planning policy.

The book aims to engage everyone from the man in the street, community leaders and politicians, and evolves a case for the issues to be considered globally in all areas of public policy. It considers the role of trees in relation to human health, the range of energies influencing our daily lives, the nature of subtle energies as well as case studies and experiments illustrating the application of Radiesthesia. The book is viewable or downloadable from independent.academia.edu/MikeHaxeltine

Mike also has a range of other titles listed on this platform including Plants and Magnetic Orientation, Bovis Units in Everyday Life, Activities in Dowsing for all the Family and the Ancient Art of Dowsing.
