VOLUME 3, ISSUE 8.

August 2008

August heralds the arrival of Marko Pogacnik from Slovenia. Based at Hawkwood College, Marco will be facilitating a series of lectures and workshops during the month ahead. We also welcome the association with the network of crop circle specialists the Circularsite who are based in the Netherlands (www.circularsite.com).

Launches this month include a new web site (www.thamesvalleydowers.org.uk) for the Thames Valley Dowers, a new pagan discussion group based at Bridgewater (see page 3 for further details), and a weekly TV chat show called Gardiners World, hosted by Philip Gardiner. Subjects include dowsing and alternative history. Further information can be found at www.gardinersworld.com.

The latest additions to the on-line archives originate from the archives of the Atlantean Society. The Early Years of Life by Helio-Arcanophus is the latest lecture to be added with Dialectical Materialism and the Atlantean Philosophy by T Nichol the latest article.

Orbs? No Elaeons! by Lorna Heath and Dean Carter

My husband and I became interested in the phenomenon of 'Orbs' (Elaeons) when at various sound events they began to manifest themselves (see above right picture). We reasoned that the sound generated through our use of crystal and Tibetan bowls and overtuning attracted these beings; possibly through generating a bridge between audible sound and higher vibratory levels. We began to test this hypothesis, recording through photography what happened. Initially the manifestations were fairly pale-looking examples, but then gained in brightness, clarity, and internal detail and features. We now have an ever growing archive of material.

As my affinity with these beings grew, I began to attempt further communications. I couldn't help but think that that they were being wrongly represented as spiritual entities, through being categorised as 'ghosts' or 'archangels' or other type of presence. After much deliberation I decided to take a direct approach and simply ask them for their name. Elaeons (rather than Orbs) was the reply.

EL comes first from the Sumerian where it means 'brightness' or 'shining', hence the appellation 'the Shining Ones'. In this instance we may as well say 'Light'. It then, of course, becomes one of the many names given in our mistranslated scriptures as 'God', and becomes the suffix designating the 'department' or 'function' of each of the archangel names.

The word 'aeon' has come to mean an era, an epoch, or a stretch of historical time. The original definition was about the Higher Being or Beings that ruled Earth during previous times. The definition in the Dictionary of Angels runs thus: Aeon—in Gnosticism, the aeon is a celestial power of a high order. It is a term used to designate the 1st created being or beings

There also seems to be a remarkable tie in again with a God-name that came up in my reading just after learning the name ELAEONS. In Genesis the name of God translated as 'God Most High' in English is EL-ELYON, in Hebrew אל עליון. Actually the second 'E' in the usual translation, the Hebrew letter 'Ayin' (ע), should really be rendered as A'A, so we have EL-A'ALYON. These beings, it seems to us, are sent to us as communications from the Most High God. It is no coincidence that this is happening at this time of great acceleration and change; the cusp between the departing historical 'aeon' of the Pisces era, and the already dawned Aquarian 'aeon' (we are living in the overlap between the two until Winter Solstice 2012.)

It also seems likely that whereas all the other four manifested elements have traditionally had their appropriate elementals (Gnomes for the Earth element, etc.) that these beings might be usefully regarded as the elementals of the Fifth Element (often overlooked and disregarded even in Western esoteric thinking), the Ākāśa, usually translated as 'ether': the Void, the no-thing-ness from which 'things' emanate. Physicists are now calling this 'zero point energy' or 'dark matter', and so on.

Book Review: The Revolution of 2012, Volume 2 - The Challenge by Andrew Smith

The second volume of The Revolution of 2012 takes us deep inside "The Planetary Initiation of 2012". The necessary physical changes as the Earth moves up to 5th Dimensional Consciousness are described clearly enough that the reader can take stock of their personal life situation and directly address the challenge of 2012.

The inevitability of the Earth's vast shift is a given but how individuals experience this major transition will depend on multiple choices made by each individual. The author presents the true choice facing each member of humanity, with the possible consequences of choosing each path clearly set out.

Understanding what's happening in these extraordinary times during the run-up to 2012 is vitally important for us all -- how we individually choose to respond is, of course, a free choice for each individual. For further information contact Andrew at artsmith2012@yahoo.co.uk or log on to www.revolutionof2012.net

Bridgewater Pagan Discussion Group

August sees the start of a new and exciting venture based at Bridgewater. The Pagan Discussion Group is open to all, irrespective of a person's knowledge or experience on any topic raised. All views are of interest and it is hoped that a greater understanding of pagan and esoteric subjects that are presented for discussion will be reached through the group. Subjects will be different every month - bring along some suggestions if you have them.

Meetings are scheduled for the third Wednesday of each month (first date 20th August). If nothing else it's a great opportunity to have a cup of tea and a natter about subjects you might be interested in. If interested in attending please come with a positive attitude and bring along donations of food and drink if possible. Evenings will begin at 7.30pm. Orbs? No Elaeons! (cont)

Part of my reasoning in writing this article was to learn if anyone else had experienced contact or undertaken similar efforts at communication, indeed I wondered if other names have been given to account for the entities. For my own part I have been able to bring the ELAEONS into the most unlikely and non-sacred settings simply by communicating with them in all faith, humility and reverence, using overtone and a Tibetan bowl. I sometimes ask them if it is possible to wax brighter to be more visible on the photographs, and this has happened.

These thought experiments were also the means by which we asked whether it was appropriate to share the name we have been given, and we have now been told, 'yes', (another reason why this article has been written). For further information about the Elaeons and Lorna's research contact Lorna or Dean at the Centre for Pure Sound, Sherborne. Email deancarter54@hotmail.com

The Chalice Well

The Chalice Well is one of the best known and most loved ancient Holy Wells in Britain. It is believed to have been in continual use for thousands of years and is situated at the foot of Glastonbury Tor, within the mystical landscape of Avalon.

It is set in a lovingly tended garden through which the waters of the spring flow a reddish colour due to the presence of a mineral known as chalybeate. There is a distinctive taste of iron in the water and this has also led to it being known as the Blood Spring. Perhaps for these same reasons it has associations with the Holy Grail and has been a centre of pilgrimage for many hundreds if not thousands of years.

The waters flow ceaselessly at a steady rate of about 25,000 gallons (112,000litres) a day and at a temperature of 11 degrees Centigrade that never varies.

The founder of The Chalice Well Trust, Wellesley Tudor Pole described the Chalice Well as,

" a window into the wider realms of life and being, and also a channel through which inspiration can pour and become more easily perceived and accepted than elsewhere."

The Trust offers an annual programme of music, community gatherings and educational retreats that are open to everyone, and encourages individual spiritual awareness and growth. Chalice Well is also a world peace garden and offers a perfect environment for contemplation and reflection. For more information about the Chalice Well and Chalice Well Trust log on to www.chalicewell.org.uk

The Ascension Process

The Ascension Process is a leap from the 3rd dimensional level of consciousness to that of the 5th dimension, a leap of sensory awareness, including your thoughts, emotions and ideas to a state of increased vibration; a jump from the visible spectrum to a greater spectrum of visibility. It is therefore an awakening to your hidden potentials, from using 10-15% of consciousness to 100% awareness (this is the ascended state) whilst continually being surrounded by the loving presence of the spiritual hierarchy.

An ascended being is one who has made the leap to the fifth dimension, which is a state of immortality uninterrupted by death or ageing and free of the 3-Dimensional life. It is now occurring on a planetary scale in this lifetime and we are part of the first wave, the vanguard that can help facilitate this evolutionary leap for humanity and planet Earth.

This is the real challenge of our generation, a marvellous opportunity to realise your origins and to appreciate yourself for who you are, beyond the limited concept of yourself given by the existing paradigms of social, economic and religious belief.

The path to self recognition and acceptance is not always easy to take and many are sleepy or disbelieving of the truth of this concept. The progression of time will bring more openness to the possibility of change with new values and paradigms driven by unconditional love and service replacing those associated with a third dimensional existence.

Could it be that you chose to leave the ascended state many thousands of years ago in order to assist in the transformation of this planet? Is it time for you to realise your potential and respect your higher origins as light workers, starseeds and very evolved and beautiful beings?

"The princes among us are those who forget themselves and serve mankind." - Woodrow Wilson

"It is right to be contented with what we have, never with what we are." - James Mackintosh
