Cycles of the Earth - Spring Equinox by Maria Viner

Those of us who suffer with SAD are no doubt very much looking forward to Spring Equinox and those of us who relish the dark, cosy evenings are making the most of them as Spring Equinox approaches.

In the Northern hemisphere the Sun is at its lowest path in the sky on the Winter Solstice. After that day the Sun follows a higher and higher path through the sky each day until it is in the sky for exactly 12 hours. On the Spring Equinox the Sun rises exactly in the east travels through the sky for 12 hours and sets exactly in the west. On the Equinox this is the motion of the Sun through the sky for everyone on earth. Every place on earth experiences a 12 hour day twice a year on the spring and Autumn Equinox. After the Spring Equinox, the Sun still continues to follow a higher and higher path through the sky, with the days growing longer and longer, until it reaches its highest point in the sky on the Summer Solstice.

This 12 hour day, equal day and equal night in both hemispheres, has led to this being a time of celebration throughout the world, a time of renewed life and new birth for many cultures and religions, when it is believed that all worlds are balanced and equal. Many holy days occur at this time of year, linked to the date when Spring Equinox occurs. Traditionally the Goddess of fertility and new beginnings, Oestre/Eostre, was worshipped with the ritual lighting of dawn fires as a protection for the crops. She symbolizes springtime, new growth, and rebirth. Once, when the Goddess was late in coming, a little girl found a bird close to death from the cold and turned to the Goddess for help. A rainbow bridge appeared and Eostre came, clothed in her red robe of warm, vibrant sunlight which melted the snows. Spring arrived.

Because the little bird was wounded beyond repair, Eostre changed it into a snow hare who then brought rainbow eggs. As a sign of spring, Eostre instructed the little girl to watch for the snow hare to come to the woods. This is also the beginning of the astrological year as the Sun enters Aries. Earth's energies are now at a time of balance which brings fertility on all levels. After its long winter sleep nature is showing signs of activity and the power of the sun is increasing. Traditionally it is a time when seeds are planted, and fertility and new life celebrated. At this time we can begin to reconnect with the Earth, and create opportunities for positive changes in our life and in the world. Ideas and plans we have made have now had time to develop and can be shared with others. It is a time for personal growth and development.

Symbolism associated with this time includes eggs, rabbits/hares and spring flowers. These symbols are all representative of fertility and new life. The idea that the Earth was hatched from an egg is widespread throughout the world. The Celts believed that the egg was from a snake, symbol of regeneration. Rabbits/hares are a natural symbol of fertility due to their prolific reproduction and also show a deep connection with the Earth because of their underground burrows. Traditionally, rabbits/hares are linked to the moon and therefore the goddess.

Film Review: The Order of the Alchemists: The Knights of Malta and Cagliostro - Almost everybody is aware of the Knights Templar. But not everybody realizes that there was another Order from the same time and with the same roots. This Order still exists today and has incredible power. This film & audio book reveals the true history of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta and in so doing, we discover occult and sinister forces at play. The story of the Knights of Malta is filled with mystery, intrigue and excitement. Described as a thought provoking masterpiece, this film unravels the military might and origins of this very human brotherhood, but also cleverly picks apart its deeper alchemical and occult leanings that as ever were right before our eyes. Email Michael at Michael@real2can.com for more information about the film.

In our home we celebrate Spring Equinox with a long walk, enjoying the elements and taking time to notice nature coming alive. We visit our family's sacred space and leave painted eggs as offerings symbolising new life and new beginnings. Our spring clean will have taken place a few days before hand, removing the negative energy accumulated in winter and preparing our home for the positive growing energy of the spring. We then decorate the house with early spring growth and flowers. We spend time sitting around a fire talking about our hopes for the future and planning positive steps to take. Finally jumping over the dying embers of the fire is believed to assure fertility of people and crops.

In today's world it is important that we try to make time to connect with the Earth. The Earth needs to hear our voice and we are a voice for the Earth. Try to use Spring Equinox as a focus for your future plans for the year and this will help you to embrace the coming of the summer. Take this opportunity to embrace Eostre's passion for new life and let our own lives take the new directions we have wanted for so long.

Some people believe that it is possible to balance an egg on its end within a few hours before and after the exact time of the equinox. If anyone manages to do this please take a photo and send it to me, Maria Viner, at Bristol Dowsers. Email: mariaviner@blueyonder.co.uk

Wishing you all a wonderful Spring Equinox.

Book Review: The Art of Being Psychic by June Elleni Laine

A brilliant book for anyone wishing to develop their intuition, creativity and psychic ability. It is truly wonderful, one of the best books on psychic development currently available. Fascinating and thought provoking exercises abound and open one up to an awareness of the right/left brain functions and how to balance them. Readers are shown how to access their creative right brain and so tap into their intuitive knowledge and psychic ability, this in turn opens the door to spirit communication. June-Elleni Laine uses examples of her own spiritual awakening to encourage readers to explore their own potential. For further information about the book contact June-Elleni Laine at info@psychicartworks.com or log on to www.psychicartworks.com

Repeal of the Fraudulent Mediums Act

The 1951 Fraudulent Mediums Act is due to be repealed in April 2008 and replaced by Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading 2007 (CPR's) which implement the Unfair Commercial Practices Directive (UCPD). Importantly the emphasis of the new legislation is on the Medium or healer to prove that they aren't fraudulent whereas the original Act required proof that the medium or healer was fraudulent. The changes will mean that a complainant can say they believe the medium or healer was fraudulent and it will be up to the medium to prove otherwise. For more information about these changes and their possible implications log on to www.spiritualworkersassociation.org.uk or www.saahera-centre.org where there are on-line petitions or email the Saahera Centre at saahera@tiscali.co.uk

Early Memories of R.I.L.K.O

Dear Robert, further to your article about R.I.L.K.O in last month's newsletter, I thought I might write and tell you about my early and enjoyable experiences of the organisation, dating back to the 1960's. My RILKO membership number is 009, so I was one of the earliest members. In the late 60s we used to meet in Kensington Town Hall, filling the main hall. Magnificent buffets were laid on and I suspect a lot of people came mostly for the food.

John Williams, the great Welsh dowser gave a talk. As I was living near him at the time, I got to know him and he taught me to dowse, an early step on The Path. He took me up a lane above Crickhowel (Hywel's Stone). We stopped and got out of the car and he handed me his dowsing rods and said "Where is it?" The rods pointed to a high stone wall and when we climbed over, there was Hywel's stone on the other side. M. Pawson (Street)

A to Z of the Esoteric Being

Thought Form - An astral ent created as a result of concentrated thought. Thought is not merely an intellectual operation but a form of energy that leaves a definite impression on the ether. Most thought forms disintegrate very quickly but those charged with emotion have a longer term of life.

TransPowering - An ancient technique for the transmission of spiritual or occult insight from one person to another. It might not mean the communication of theoretical knowledge but rather the bestowal of a secret teaching or mystic illumination.
