2011: A Year of Accelerating Change by Meredith Parker

Long periods of gentle progression interspersed by shorter periods of intense activity characterises the evolutionary path of the universe. We are in a time of accelerated change or intense activity. Such times are often associated with the passage of a heavenly body through our solar system and currently the elliptical orbit of Nibiru (Rudolf Steiner's 12th planet) means that it is in close attention. In Babylonian Astronomy, Nibiru translates as the "Planet of Crossing" or "Point of Transition".

Nibiru's presence is the herald for the arrival in earnest, of a new energetic template for our home planet, one which will re-write the template for consciousness and all the physical laws as we have known them. This energetic uplift is an ascension (there will be others). Ascensions enable the universe to become more stable and safer because everything within it evolves to resonate at the highest possible energetic level.

During 2011 the rate at which the new energy streams will arrive is going to intensify. The effect on each individual will vary depending on how they respond to the higher vibrations, but we might (for example) find that patterns of sleep begin to change and we experience more "out of body" or "multidimensional" activity. We might find ourselves eating less and eating less heavy foods such as meat. We will also become much more sensitive to energy and might even develop telepathic abilities.

Telepathic abilities and a greater sense of interconnectedness are associated with higher states of consciousness. Great spiritual beings (e.g. the Christ) are so ascended, so interconnected that they can permeate every facet of everything. They are truly cosmic.

The first quarter of 2011 is an opportune time to contemplate these changes from an esoteric or inner perspective. Consider that throughout the year your own energetic vibration is rising. Consider also that you and everyone else is becoming more sensitive to energy and that your own conduct towards others will carry an energetic resonance. During those nights when you cannot sleep visualise yourself as an ascended being (one of love and compassion), a column of light, with every cell of your being expanding into light, finite yet infinite, you are multidimensional, here yet everywhere and not confined by limitation.

This ascension is about the marriage of individuality and group consciousness and during this year we will have to consider our own individual needs in the light of collective needs. It is not a matter of adjusting to superficial change for we are talking about a change in the very essence of what we currently are as individuals and as a collective humanity. We are talking about unfolding our love and compassion, aligning with these higher energies and reconnecting with the cosmos.

The challenge of transition is ours during 2011, a year when we begin let go of the old (what we have known) and make a commitment to the new higher way. The new way requires us to live through the higher aspects of the self, and to work for the best interests of humanity and Gaia. It requires us to work together at a far more integrated level than ever before, integrated to the point where we have complete honesty and openness with each other.

Out of the changing essence of our individuality we manifest a higher humanity. We have manifested a sense of interconnectedness through our technology, but our challenge for 2011 is to manifest this interconnectedness at a spiritual ethereal level. 2011 is not just a year of contemplation but also a year of action and choice for each and every one of us.

Celtic Quarter Days, Solstices and Equinoxes

by Roy Snelling

I have been doing some calculations on the relationship between the Celtic Quarter days as accepted by the New Age movement today, and the Solstices and Equinoxes.

Strictly speaking the Quarter Days, (Imbolc, Beltaine, Lammas and Samhain) ought to fall equidistant between the Solstices and Equinoxes. For Example one might expect Imbolc to fall equidistant between the Winter Solstice and the Spring Equinox.

The reality is that they are not necessarily equidistant because the solstices and equinox's are moveable to accommodate the fact that our Solar Year is 365.25 days long, whilst our calendar year is 365 days, hence the need for a leap year every 4th year.

I have no doubt that our ancient ancestors celebrated the Celtic days at the correct time of year, but fixing the dates of the Celtic days into the Gregorian calendar might be a mistake and it might be better to embrace the idea of moveable Celtic days to tie in with the Solstices etc. Samhain for example, could be on 4th November, not 31st October during some years.

This issue is important as, if it is true that on one of these 8 days of the year the veil between the material and spiritual planes is thin and used for ritualistic purposes then we must celebrate on the right day. My fear is that the static dates of Celtic Quarter days have been accepted by the majority of people without question when more research is required.

"Love and compassion are not necessities, not luxuries. Without them, humanity cannot survive. With them, we can make a joint effort to solve the problems of the whole of humankind." Compassion is the basis of all truthful relationships: it means being present with love ~ for ourselves and for all life, including animals, fish, birds, and trees. Compassion is bringing our deepest truth into our actions, no matter how much the world seems to resist, because that is ultimately what we have to give this world and one another." Dalai Lama

King Arthur by Ross Goodlass

My name is Ross Goodlass and I am an Assistant Producer working on a new programme for National Geographic exploring the history of King Arthur. My research is at a very early stage and would like to talk to anyone who might be able to enlighten me by sharing their thoughts on this legendary figure and the mysticism that surrounds him.

I am hoping to speak with people who can explain to me the connection between King Arthur and the West Country, as well as those who might be able to highlight the many places and locations of importance throughout the countryside that relate to this story.

Please contact me at ross@zigzag.uk.com if you are interested in talking with me.

The Number Two by Shirley Laflin

Two is the number of concentration upon all things giving the ability to see clearly, hear well, and feel and know what is true.

Used well it will aid the growth of wisdom and the riches it brings with it. Problems can be cut through with it and returned to the place they deserve, knots untied and foggy places cleared.

Keep it in your pocket and get it out when you are feeling in need of clarity, creativity or just plain old common sense.

Place it in your third eye and concentrate on the issue in question, ask St Michael to bring his Sunday best sword, slay any prowling dragons, and blow away the cobwebs until you experience the answer or 'know' what is true.
