The Multidimensional Human Being

By Mehmet Caplin

String theory, ghosts, paranormal activity, crop circles, clairvoyance, leys, energy healing, out of body experiences and UFO's all serve to offer gentle hints that there is something beyond the physical realm; the possibility that we exist in a multidimensional universe.

Despite these many reminders, human beings tend to live out lives that become a pre-occupation with the physical. Our emotions, ego and intellect become bound to exploring, or coping with life 3rd dimensional life in a body. Even when we do venture into space our television based forays depict humanity as physical beings; as is virtually every other species and planet encountered.

If we adhere to the universal idea "As above so below", there is also the possibility that human beings (although in physical form) are also multidimensional, with the potential to exist simultaneously in any form on any planet within the universe.

What then of the Earth? Could that also be multidimensional? The winter solstice of 2012 was something of a Rubicon in this respect. Celestial alignments meant that immense amounts of energy were projected at the planet. At a human level the effects may not have been especially noticeable, but the energies involved have jumpstarted a process where the Earth is now changing, evolving into a higher sense of consciousness, the elemental worlds beginning to explore the idea of ethereal and multidimensional consciousness.

The advancement of Earth consciousness offers humanity the opportunity to also explore beyond the physical sense bound third dimensional reality, evolving it in partnership with our home. We would develop a different kind of understanding of the planet; no longer to be viewed as an inanimate object but as a living being one that seeks to communicate with us at what might be described as a telepathic or etheric level.

Imagine this possibility; communication with the primal intelligence and raw creative power of 'mother' nature. As the beings that have developed self consciousness we would be able to help the elemental worlds within Gaia develop their consciousness. In redefining our relationship with the Earth, human beings would also become the interface between the energies of the spiritual worlds and the elemental energies of Gaia and central to the marriage of heaven and Earth and the raising of planetary consciousness.

Broadly speaking it seems that humanity may be faced with two choices. We can continue to preoccupy ourselves with all things physical or we can embark on a journey in to ethereal space.

Such a path takes courage and commitment but one way forward is affirm daily that we wish to align with the world of living ideas, to be part of a great integrated whole. "The one thing I want is to be prepared to attune to the living whole of which I am part; and at any moment do what is most appropriate to me as part of the living whole. I will attune to the oneness"

We must not only look inwards but also outwards and in the words of Captain Kirk "go where no man (or woman) has gone before." The exploration of ethereal (rather than physical) space is surely the great opportunity of our time. No spaceship required, just an opening of the heart and mind.

Book Review: Supersoul. A Radical World View for a New Consciousness

By Ian Lawton

A supersoul is a grouping of hundreds, maybe thousands, of souls. Myriads of supersouls are projecting individual soul aspects of themselves into this and myriad other realities, meaning they are very far from the ultimate consciousness. Yet to be fully connected to your supersoul is to have boundless wisdom and creative power, and as a fullholographic representation of it you are already more divine than you can hope to conceive. That may well mean it is of limited value to ponder what lies beyond.

This book brings together channelled material and pioneering out-of-body research to propose an aggregation of consciousness between that of the individual soul and of universal Source, namely that of the supersoul. This new term is used, as against alternatives such as oversoul and higher self, because these are somewhat confusingly used in multiple different contexts by different people.

It develops a modified water analogy such that the raindrop is just one life or personality... the stream fed by many raindrops is the soul... the river fed by many streams is the supersoul... the sea fed by many rivers is Source. It extracts normally overlooked confirmation from a variety of sources that, as integral aspects of our supersoul consciousness, we ourselves are the creator gods talked of in all religious and metaphysical texts. Our supersouls have the ability to create whole new universes as fresh consciousness experiments, the aim being to harvest different experiences to feed into the universal melting pot.

It suggests that all historical, religious reports of meeting with God or other deities were most likely encounters with the supersoul of the person involved. It similarly suggests that spirit guides and even angels are most likely other aspects of our own supersoul. It proposes that during the interlife experience most of us remain completely oblivious to our broader supersoul consciousness, despite the fact we're a fundamental aspect of it. It indicates that as a result our aim should be to connect with our supersoul consciousness both while incarnate and when discarnate, in order to unlock the boundless creative potential we all possess. ## Book Review: Lost Eagle. The Untold Story of HH Grand Duchess Tatiana of Russia

By Steven Ingman-Greer

An epic drama of world-changing events revealed through the visionary consciousness of Tatiana, one of the four daughters of the last Russian Tsar, Nicholas II and his wife Alexandra.

This is Tatiana's story, told through her diary: from idyllic childhood in the last royal family of Russia, to brutal imprisonment at the hands of the revolutionaries; from her last-minute escape and secret exile in England - for which there exists actual historical and documentary evidence - to her fulfilment in love and eventual tragic fate as she disappears from history under an assumed name. Within the storyline of history, Tatiana's passionate and impressionistic diary entries are set against the gathering storm of the revolution and the ominous indicators of the Romanov family's impending doom - and against the machinations of the British establishment which decided her fate.
