July 2014

July sees a busy month ahead including the last ever Circles of Knowledge Conference in Marlborough (see Page 4).

The Glastonbury WRG group is looking for a new group coordinator. If you are interested in fulfilling this role please contact Mick Cray mick.cray@yahoo.com

The Druids: Ancient Initiates of the Mysteries by John Haberman is the newest addition to the Wessex Research Group Network online article archive www.wessexresearchgroup.org/literary_resources.html

The Bow and the Sword by Nigel Blair is the latest addition to the WRG on-line digital lecture archive www.wessexresearchgroup.org/digital.html

Balancing the Yin and the Yang within Us

By Joan Grainger

In order to rethink everything and to find the means of looking at the universe and ourselves anew, we would do well to realise that we can best do this by accepting into our consciousness the awareness that the Yin, (esoteric) and Yang (exoteric) within us, must fuse if we are to cooperate with nature at a deeper level of consciousness. By binding together gentleness (Yin), and fearlessness (Yang), we lift ourselves up in thought through meditation, to a region beyond the two, where we can BE.

When thus lifted beyond this fused polarity we stand in awed expectation of a new drama unfolding before us. We experience discriminating awareness and stand as cosmic warriors, as new world servers ready to go, Arthurian style in to the open arena of tumult and confusion to soothe the destructive energies of anger and fear by our calming presence.

This fearlessness goes beyond mere bravado and manifests itself through poise and richness in our lives; while gentleness, instead of being passivity or non-violence becomes the experience of the sacred. We are then liberated into the 'Greater Light'; we transcend the conflicts of polarity and bind them to overcome resentment, fear, greed, lust, envy etc. We can fully understand the Buddha who said One's own self conquered is better than all the people conquered; not even a god could change into defeat the victory of a man who has vanquished himself.

The victorious ones are the meek, who will inherit the world. In this context the word "meek" means absence of resentment, whose energies on higher inner planes have been replaced by Love and Wisdom.

With such a conduct of being we rise above all things evil. If plagued by adversity or ensnaring or deflecting energies, we calmly remove ourselves from such a situation and with love in our hearts - directed to the soul level, carry on with our work as befits our mission in life.

Those who transcend the lower vibrational energies through love stand on the verge of 'apostlehood', as pioneers of the Aquarian age they transform and act as transforming agents. As Jesus said The work I do, you shall also do, and greater works than these you shall do.

While linked to the God-Head as free and unencumbered beings with our feet firmly planted on the ground, we cautiously and resolutely approach the golden bridge that spans two epochs. Without looking back and ignoring the frivolous taunts and distractions of those that would seek to lower our energetic vibration, because they have chosen not to cross such a bridge, but who need to hold others in their hypnotic spell lest they lose their power to dominate and manipulate, we boldly step forward beyond their vista and into a new age.

At this point second thoughts are obviated, and any lingering doubts banished, for we have the confidence in the purity of our perception. With an unwavering mind and an unhesitating attitude we embrace the greater force which is beyond reason, beyond intellectual dialogue and enter over this life saving bridge and see from afar glimmering in the great light on the shores of our higher being, the inner world of spirit, where lies mystical knowledge and the realisation that there is no death, but life eternal, while we remain constantly living in the now and deal with the practical in the hustle and bustle of daily life.

The Wiltshire Crop Circle Study Group

By John Blake

After almost twenty years the Wiltshire Crop Circle Study Group will be holding its last annual conference this July before closing its doors for good.

Established in 1995, the group was founded by Francine Blake after she discovered the crop circles by chance in 1989; before that day she knew nothing about the subject. Francine, living in London at the time, was visiting Wiltshire with her husband when they happened to drive by a crop circle; they went into it and felt the extraordinary energy which she describes as quite palpable. Francine was immediately hooked; two years later she and her family moved from London to Wiltshire and with a desire to learn more, she joined a newly formed organisation called the CCCS (Centre for Crop Circle Studies).

The organisation sadly started to disintegrate through continuous dissent and in 1995 Francine and four others started a new group based in Wiltshire, which after all is the most active area in the world for crop circle activity. The Wiltshire Crop Circle Study Group was born.

Studying each aspect of the phenomenon, the scientific evidence – the recorded physical effect on the plants and soil; the metaphysical aspect – the meaning encoded in their symbolic design and their spiritual aspect, the aim of the group was to disseminate this information to the wider public and for twenty years, it successfully achieved this goal. Now, after years of dedication, Francine is retiring to concentrate on her own project – a long-awaited book which has been almost ten years in the writing and so with some sadness, the group will close this summer.

With just under 400 global members at its height, the WCCSG also focussed on the energies and mysteries surrounding the local landscape in which the crop circles appear. Through its 'Spiral' magazine and diverse talks, members and friends have been invited to discover much more than just the circles themselves and the group's 'Circles of Knowledge' conference has combined all these things at an annual event held in the beautiful surroundings of Marlborough College in the heart of the Wiltshire Downs. On 5th and 6th July, the group will host the last of these uplifting events. With well-known international speakers that have been a big part of the group's history, the weekend will offer talks, films and presentations on the Circles, their history, UFOs, our future, the sacred landscape and the environment.

With associated tours on the surrounding days led by Maria Wheatley, Peter Knight and Francine Blake – this event will be the last chance to experience this unique event. For more information please log on to www.wccsg.com or telephone 07779 113542.

This year's presentations include Francine Blake, Lucy Pringle, Bert Janssen, Glenn and Cameron Broughton, Anthony Thorley, Peter Knight, Maria Wheatley, Dr Dawn Marsden & Celia Gunn, Pierre Beake and the Soil Association's Graham Harvey plus films, meditation, live gongs, harp music, stalls and workshops with the Wyvern Dowsing Society

Book Review: Calne – Gateway to Ancient Wiltshire

By Peter Knight and Sue Wallace

This handbook is essential for anyone wishing to explore the secret byways and beautiful countryside in and around Calne, in North Wiltshire, as well as learning more of the town's history. More than this, the informative walks connect Calne to some of the most famous ancient sites of Britain, such as Avebury, Silbury Hill and West Kennet Long Barrow, showing how this small historical town is ideally placed to explore North Wiltshire.

This lavishly illustrated guide offers walks of various lengths, easy to follow maps, bus links and caters for all levels of walking ability. A5 format. 192pp. Index (signed copies direct from the authors). Log on to www.stoneseeker.net for book details and forthcoming walks based upon it
