VOLUME 10, ISSUE 5.

May 2015

May offers a busy month of events, an International Dowsing Day (May 5th) and two major celebrations in Beltane and Pentecost.

Beltane the Celtic May Day falls on 1st May and begins with the rise of the moon on the evening of 30th April. It marks the beginning of the third quarter or second half of the ancient Celtic year.

Pentecost (Whitsunday) is recognised as the birth of the Christian church. It is celebrated on the seventh Sunday after Easter Sunday. Traditions associated with Whitsun include walks and processions, Cheese Rolling, fairs and Morris Dancing.

How and Why Errors Arose in Cosmology

By R.D. Pearson

In 1984 I started to find errors in logic in physics publications concerning cosmology. I thought I was doing a service by pointing them out and offering alternative solutions. I was trying to help on the assumption that, as I had been told at school, the cross fertilisation between disciplines is valued and welcomed.

I soon found it is not. I got mostly the brush-off on grounds I was attacking established physics whilst a few others agreed I was correct and the work needed publication. Then they said "elsewhere". All that flawed logic remains to this day established physics and is still taught to students of physics and cosmology.

I am a specialist in the branch of physics that concentrates on classical mechanics and thermodynamics. It was from this vantage point that it was clear that some other branches of physics were, and still are, making serious errors in logic that need to be rectified.

Then from that point, because those errors have blocked the way, I was able to solve problems they still can't do. Any one of the three most important would win the Nobel Prize if produced by a Prof. or Ph.D in physics. Indeed theorists are still trying to solve these to achieve just that.

The first major issue is the basis of the big bang theory purporting to describe creation of the universe.

It is obviously flawed since it makes a prediction for the rate of expansion of the universe by a number so many times too high as to dwarf to insignificance the number of atoms in the entire universe!

The theory had led naturally to quantum gravity since, unlike relativity, this 'Exact Classical Mechanics' starts from fully quantum compatible assumptions. Since 1960 theorists have been trying to formulate a theory of quantum gravity starting from relativity - still with no success in sight!

By 1992 a satisfactory alternative to the big bang theory had become available. This 'Big Breed Theory' showed the universe must exist as a huge ball growing all the time to colonise the void outside. Again it was only publishable in Russia where it appeared in the proceedings of the Russian Academy of Sciences and Arts in 1994.

An embarrassing feature of the solution was that, although it predicted about the correct rate of expansion of the universe, it showed the expansion would always be speeding up, especially toward the advancing spherical edge. This was an embarrassment since all other theories predicted the expansion must always be slowing down.

The solution I was deriving in 1987 demanded the existence of a background medium. This ruled out the use of Einstein's relativity theories that are 'background independent'. So first an alternative mechanics had to be derived. This was ready by 1988 and, to my great joy, matched all the experimental checks that are still considered unique to Einstein's relativity.

This joy was soon quenched by the refusal of all journals to publish the solution on grounds that it was mandatory to start from relativity and build from there. No alternative or critique of relativity was acceptable. I had to go to Russia in 1991, at considerable personal expense, to get it published.

Finally one publication in the peer-reviewed scientific journal Frontier Perspectives appeared in their Spring/Summer edition of 1997 entitled, 'Consciousness as a Sub Quantum Phenomenon' pp70-78. This showed that an ultimate level of reality existed that would self-organise continually until it could create our universe using the waves and vibrations it generates. The theory had included survival of death and the so-called 'paranormal' as described in the popularisation: 'INTELLIGENCE BEHIND THE UNIVERSE III.

Then in 1998, astronomers published findings concerning remote type 1A supernovae. This astounded and dismayed all cosmologists since the results showed the expansion was speeding up! They assumed something they called 'Dark Energy' must exist that produces anti-gravity at long range. However, what use is this when the major problem facing the Big Bang remains unresolved and still dwarfs to insignificance anything their anti-gravity could do?

The major point is that from a solution to that first problem, that of dark energy had also appeared. And this long before the discovery - which adds greatly to credibility.

So solutions to three main problems in cosmology already exist but it is impossible to communicate the news to any cosmologist.

I recently e-mailed every university in the country that offer cosmology courses to give details of the solution with reference to my 1997 peer-reviewed publication. Not a single reply came back and they still struggle on wasting taxpayer's money in a futile quest using 5 satellites looking at the CMB to find clues to tell them what it is!
